To whom this may concern,

No level is acceptable. It's time this poison is banned. We are already over exposed. Enough is enough.

CA's OEHHA is proposing a regulatory (i.e., reprehensible) "No Significant Risk Level" (NSLR) for glyphosate of 1,100 micrograms/day/kg body weight, which means that exposures below that level are not considered a significant risk and would not require a warning. That's basically twice the EU "standard" that independent scientists in the EU consider too high. The OEHHA proposal is totally unacceptable for this and other reasons
